a) Revolving Credit Facility

The Corporation has a $37,000 revolving facility which has a maturity date of August 31, 2023, is renewable with the lender's consent, and is secured by a general security agreement over the Corporation's assets. In addition, the revolving credit facility allows for up to $5,000 to be available by way of account overdraft which is not subject to the covenant requirements described below.

Interest on the facility, which is independent of standby fees, is charged monthly at the lender's prime rate plus an applicable margin which fluctuates based on the Funded Debt to EBITDA ratio (defined below). The applicable margin can range between 0.75% - 1.75% depending on the level of principal outstanding. Standby fees also fluctuate based on the Funded Debt to EBITDA ratio and range between 0.40% - 0.60% of the undrawn balance.

The facility is subject to two financial covenants which are reported to the lender on a quarterly basis. The first covenant requires the Funded Debt to EBITDA ratio to be less than 3.0 to 1 and the second covenant requires the EBITDA to Interest Expense ratio (defined below) to be a minimum of 3.0 to 1. Both are calculated on the last day of each fiscal quarter on a rolling four quarter basis. As at June 30, 2022, the Corporation was in compliance with these two financial covenants.

| Ratio                                   | Covenant | June 30, 2022 |
| Funded Debt to EBITDA <sup>1</sup>      | < 3.0x   | -             |

Notes to the Interim Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements As at and for the three and six-months ended June 30, 2022 and 2021 (Unaudited)

(Amounts are stated in thousands of Canadian Dollars, except per share amounts and/or unless otherwise stated)

Funded Debt to EBITDA is defined as the ratio of consolidated Funded Debt to the aggregate EBITDA for the trailing four quarters. Funded Debt is the amount of debt provided and outstanding at the date of the covenant calculation. Interest Expense excludes any impact related to lease liabilities (note 5). EBITDA for the purposes of calculating the covenants is defined as a trailing 12-month net income (loss) plus interest expense, current tax expense, deferred income tax expense (recovery), depreciation and amortization, share-based compensation expense, and non-cash inventory write-downs, less gains from foreign exchange and sale or purchase of assets and lease payments.

The Sale Transactions in July 2022 resulted in the cancellation of revolving credit facility, refer to Note 17.

b) Mortgage Financing:

During December 2021, the Corporation entered a mortgage financing arrangement for $8,100, secured by lands and buildings owned and occupied by High Arctic within Alberta, Canada. The mortgage has an initial term of 5 years with a fixed interest rate of 4.30% and an amortization period of 25 years with payments occurring monthly. The mortgage liability and associated financing costs are specifically excluded from the Revolving Credit Facility financial covenant calculations.

12. Income Tax

At June 30, 2022 deferred tax assets created through the accumulation of non-capital losses in North America were reviewed to assess the probability that future taxable profit could be utilized against such losses. As a result of the Sale Transactions in July 2022, and a history of unused non-capital losses the deferred tax asset has been written down to $ nil (December 31, 2021 - $7,743).

At June 30, 2022, non-current income tax receivable of $2,574 relates to prior period installments made to the PNG government. The Corporation can apply these accumulated installments to future income tax payable on earnings in PNG. No installment payments were made in YTD-2022. The Corporation has reclassified all current income tax receivable to non-current based on the anticipated timing of recovery of these amounts.

14. Financial instruments and risk management

Financial and other risks

The Corporation is exposed to financial risks arising from its financial assets and liabilities. This includes the risk associated with the developments relating to COVID-19. Pandemic and/or endemic risk is the risk that operations and/or administration are forced to run at less than full capacity due to an absence or reduction of members of the workforce, either through forced closures by government both within countries and across national borders, by internally imposed rotational schedules and/or quarantine or illness of the workforce. Further, cyber-security risks increase as employees work from home. Such restrictions could significantly impact the ability for the Corporation to operate, and therefore impact financial results.

The Corporation is also exposed to geopolitical risks including the trade and economic impacts of the ongoing war in Ukraine. Geopolitical risks associated with the situation in Ukraine could significantly impact international trade and global commodity prices, including global oil prices.

Market risks

Market risk is the risk that the fair value or future cash flows of financial assets or liabilities will fluctuate due to movements in market rates:

a) Interest rate risk

Interest rate risk is the risk that the value of a financial instrument will fluctuate as a result of changes in market interest rates. The Corporation currently has mortgage financing arrangement with a fixed interest rate of 4.30% (Note 7). The Corporation is exposed to interest rate risk upon renewal or expiration of the initial term. In addition, the Corporation is also exposed to interest rate risk on borrowing within its revolving credit facility, which is a floating rate credit facility and fluctuates in response to changes in the prime interest rates (Note 7). The Corporation had no risk management contracts that would be affected by interest rates in place at June 30, 2022.

b) Commodity price risk

Commodity price risk is the risk that the Corporation's future cash flows will fluctuate due to changes in demand for High Arctic's services, where almost all the Corporation's customers are oil and gas producers. High Arctic's customer's activity and strategic decisions are impacted by the fluctuations of oil and gas pricing.

These prices are sensitive to not only the relationship between the Canadian and US dollar, but more importantly local, regional and world economic and geopolitical events. This includes implications from changing oil demand and supply, policy direction taken by OPEC including the role taken by Russia, climate change driven transitions to lower emission energy sources, the COVID-19 pandemic which creates a scenario of both downward and fluctuating price pressure as well as the implications of changes to government and government policy including the policy directions that will be taken by the US government and ongoing negotiations in PNG to build LNG expansion with industry.

While the Corporation recognizes it will be impacted by these risks, the Corporation also strongly believes that there is a significant role for the energy services industry in the current, transitionary and future phases of energy industry changes.

The Corporation had no risk management contracts that would be affected by commodity prices in place at June 30, 2022.

c) Foreign currency risk

Foreign currency risk is the risk that a variation in the exchange rate between Canadian and foreign currencies will affect the Corporation's results.

The majority of the Corporation's international revenue and expenses are effectively transacted in USD and the Corporation does not actively engage in foreign currency hedging. For the three and six months ended June 30, 2022, a $0.10 change in the exchange rate of the Canadian dollar relative to the USD would have resulted in a change to the net loss amounting to $102 and $233, respectively (2021: $145 and $373, respectively).

d) PNG foreign currency restrictions

The Corporation's ability to repatriate funds from PNG is controlled by the PNG government through their central bank.

There are currently a number of monetary and currency exchange control measures in PNG that can impact the ability to repatriate funds, as well as establish requirements to transact in the local PNG currency (Kina or "PGK").

As at June 30, 2022 USD $630 (December 31, 2021: USD $384) was on deposit with a large international bank in PNG. The Bank of PNG ("BPNG") has provided approval for High Arctic to maintain a USD bank account in accordance with the BPNG currency regulations. Historically, the Corporation has received approval from the BPNG for drilling services contracts with its key customers in PNG to be denominated and settled in USD. However, if such approval is withdrawn in the future, or new contracts do not receive BPNG approval, funds may be converted into PGK and the Corporation would be required to access the foreign currency market in PNG to meet its foreign currency obligations, thus exposing the Corporation to greater foreign exchange exposure for the PGK.

The BPNG currency regulations also limit the amount of foreign currency that companies can maintain in order to meet their forecasted three-month cash flow requirements, with excess funds required to be held in PGK. While no significant issues have been experienced to date, there is no guarantee such restrictions will not exist or will not impact the Corporation's ability to transact or repatriate funds.

Credit risk, customers, and economic dependence

Credit risk is the risk of a financial loss occurring as a result of a default by a counter party on its obligation to the Corporation. The Corporation's financial instruments that are exposed to credit risk consist primarily of accounts receivable and cash balances held in banks. The Corporation mitigates credit risk by regularly monitoring its accounts receivable position and depositing cash in properly capitalized banks. The Corporation also institutes credit reviews prior to commencement of contractual arrangements.

The Corporation's accounts receivable is predominantly with customers who explore for and develop petroleum reserves and are subject to industry credit risk consistent with the industry. The Corporation assesses the credit worthiness of its customers on an ongoing basis and monitors the amount and age of balances outstanding.

In providing for ECL, the Corporation uses the historical default rates within the industry between investment grade and non-investment grade customers as well as forward looking information to determine the appropriate loss allowance provision.

The net carrying amount of accounts receivable represents the estimated maximum credit exposure on the accounts receivable balance. The Corporation has a wide range of customers comprised of small independent, intermediate and large multinational oil and gas producers.

Notwithstanding its large customer base, the Corporation provides services to 4 large multinational/regional customers who individually accounted for greater than 10% of its consolidated revenues during the three-month period ended June 30, 2022 with sales of $6,007, $3,886, $2,982, and $2,925, respectively (2021: three customers with revenues of $4,449, $2,145, and $2,028, respectively).

The Corporation provides services to 4 large multinational/regional customers who individually accounted for greater than 10% of its consolidated revenues during the six-month period ended June 30, 2022 with sales of $10,582, $8,535, $5,908, and $5,615, respectively (June 30, 2021: three customers with revenues of $8,655, $4,305, and $4,218, respectively).

As at June 30, 2022, these 4 customers represented a total of $6,289 or 36% of outstanding accounts receivable (December 31, 2021: two customers represented a total of $2,737 or 13% of outstanding accounts receivable).

Liquidity risk

Liquidity risk is the risk that the Corporation will not be able to meet its financial obligations as they fall due. The Corporation's approach to managing liquidity is to ensure, as far as possible, that it will always have sufficient liquidity to meet its liabilities when due.

Liquidity risk is currently being impacted by uncertainty within capital markets given the COVID-19 pandemic on global economies, economic recession possibilities, and contraction of available capital and reliance on continued fiscal stimulus by governments around the world.

The Corporation's processes for managing liquidity risk include preparing and monitoring capital and operating budgets, working capital management, coordinating and authorizing project expenditures, authorization of contractual agreements, managing compliance to debt finance agreements, and remaining attentive to the relationship with High Arctic's lender. The Corporation seeks to manage its financing based on the results of these processes.

Further, the Corporation currently had up to $37,000 in remaining availability under its credit facility, subject to the bank stipulated Margin Requirement (Note 7), to enable execution of strategic direction.

The Sale Transactions in July 2022 lead to the sale of the Corporation's Canadian Well Servicing and Snubbing businesses as well as a portion of the Corporation's Canadian well servicing rentals. Subsequent to closing of the Sale Transactions, no funding is available under the revolving credit facility. High Arctic intends to fund working capital and capital expenditure needs from cash balances with a view to establish a new arrangement geared towards its Papua New Guinea ("PNG") business in due course.

15. Operating segments

The Corporation determines its operating segments based on internal information reviewed by the executive management team and Board of Directors to allocate resources and assess performance. The Corporation's reportable operating segments are strategic operating units that offer different products and services. The Corporation operates in Canada and PNG. The Corporation has four operating segments as follows:
